Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of la grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Eggleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Sold by Dr. W. N. Craig, the popular druggist, Stanford.

One application will give you relief and its continued use for a short time will bring about a permanent cure. For sale by Dr. W. N. Craig, the popular druggist, Stanford.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mary Jane Owsley was born near Lexington, Ky., on the 11th of January 1814. Her father was William Dunlap, whose father was Major William Dunlap, of the Revolutionary army, in active service till the surrender at Yorktown. She was one of a family of 12 sons and daughters and was noted for her beauty and sprightliness in the days of her early youth. On Feb. 11, 1840, she was married to Mr. Joseph Hopper, a prosperous merchant of Lancaster, Ky., and was a resident of that place for many years. Of this marriage there were two children, Mrs. Mattie Dunlap Withers and Mr. George Dunlap Hopper, who survive her. Subsequently she was married to Mr. John Owsley, who died in 1868. During the latter years of her life Mrs. Owsley had made her home in Stanford with her children.

Her passing has ended the career of one of the most remarkable women of the century. Brought up in the teachings of the Presbyterian church, her faith was staunch and true, and her principles of right living were founded on the Rock of Ages. Her mental gifts were unusual. Reared in the day of meager education for women beyond the domestic accomplishments, there was no evidence in speech or manner that she was not a graduate of the schools. Quick to observe, she acquired a degree of culture rarely seen in the women of her time. Her buoyant, cheerful spirit was pre-eminent, and her conversation was replete with wit and humor. It was remarked that there was never a dull moment in her presence. In shadow and in sunshine she had a heart for every fate, and she met the vicissitudes of a long life with unshrinking brow.

During her residence at Lancaster her life was marked by deeds of mercy and loving-kindness. There were no trained nurses in those early times. The sick were cared for by willing neighbors. She went wherever trouble came and ministered to the sick, the dying and the dead.

To be near her was, in a manner, to drink in the elixir of life, for of her abundance she gave forth. Loving and lovable, firm in conviction and warm in friendship, she has gone to the land of Beulah and left for posterity many noble lessons. Requisite in pace. How blest the righteous when she dies! When sinks a weary soul to rest, How mildly beam the closing eyes, How gently heaves the expiring breast.

Life's duty done, as sinks the clay,
Light from its load the spirit flies;
While heaven and earth combine to say:
How blest the righteous when she dies!

CHURCH MATTERS.

Rev. Joseph T. Watts, of Louisville, is holding an interesting meeting at the Baptist church at London.

Over 300 guests partook of a sumptuous spread at the Christian church last night, says a dispatch from Paris, the occasion being the annual banquet given to the men of the congregation by the pastor, Elder Carey E. Morgan, and the ladies of the church. The dining rooms were beautifully decorated. The Kentucky University quartette, of Lexington, and Foote's Mandolin and Guitar Club, of Paris, furnished a delightful program. The principal speakers were Eld. F. M. Rains, of Cincinnati, on "This Occasion;" Elder I. J. Spencer, of Lexington, on "The Dignity of Manhood," and Elder E. L. Powell, of Louisville, on "Patriotic Citizenship." The speakers were introduced by Elder Morgan.

The Richest Man in the World.

The richest man in the world can not have his kidneys replaced nor live without them, so it is important not to neglect these organs. Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease, which certainly would have cost me my life."
